

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An information processing apparatus has a bookmark registration function for registering a home page which is being inspected. The information processing apparatus includes a keyword extracting section which extracts keywords from contents of a registering home page which is to be registered, and a title adding section which creates a title of the registering home page from the extracted keywords, and adding the title to the registering home page.

15

20

25

30

35